

BE SAFE

BE RESPECTFUL

BE RESPONSIBLE

THE WEEKLY FLYER

"In the end, it's not the years in your life that count. It's the life in your years"
~Abraham Lincoln~

Elementary News
by: Bethany Owens

Last week the first quarter ended on Thursday at 3:30. On top of that, we had our wonderfully long 3 day weekend for fall break. I hope you all enjoyed it! This week we have red ribbon week, and the carnival too. Please be sure to say thank you to the sixth graders, as they have worked extremely hard to make fun games, and set them up in the gym. Thank you for reading "The Weekly Flyer!" Be sure to read in next time!

Weekly Memes
by: Andre Mose

When somebody reminds Teacher about homework

EAGLE SPORTS
by: EVAN KOPECKY

First off a mid state VB tourney @ Norfolk Catholic. On Thursday there is Midstate volleyball finals @ Norfolk Catholic. Friday we have the 1st round of the football playoffs. good luck and remember to do it the eagle way.

Special Thanks!

Special thanks goes to Elijah and Easton Kopecky, and Andre Mosel for their wonderful drawing skills in the weekly comic. Also thanks to Annie Corkle for contributing the weekly quote, and Peyton Yates for his excellent photography.

Mission Control
by: Peyton Yates and Evan Kopecky

Last week's mission was to take a look in the mirror and say you are going to have a good day. When you go to school you should also say to somebody that they are going to have a good day to.

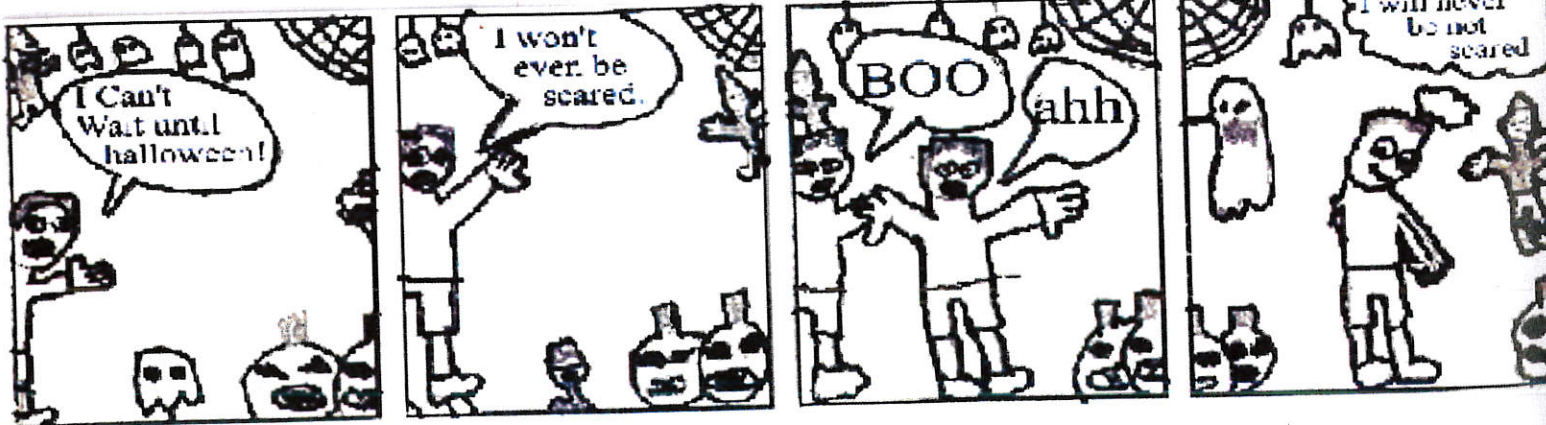

P} Today in the mirror I said hi peyton have a good day.What did you say Evan.

E} I said nice looking good oh that's not what you were talking about.

P} EVAN you are worth it.

E} You are right I am pretty cool aren't I. I guess you are worth it to Peyton, and you are going to have a good day.

P}Thanks.

BE SAFE

BE RESPECTFUL

BE RESPONSIBLE

THE WEEKLY FLYER

"In the end, it's not the years in your life that count. It's the life in your years"
~Abraham Lincoln~

Elementary News
by: Bethany Owens

Last week the first quarter ended on Thursday at 3:30. On top of that, we had our wonderfully long 3 day weekend for fall break. I hope you all enjoyed it! This week we have red ribbon week, and the carnival too. Please be sure to say thank you to the sixth graders, as they have worked extremely hard to make fun games, and set them up in the gym. Thank you for reading "The Weekly Flyer!" Be sure to read in next time!

Weekly Memes
by: Andre Mose

When somebody reminds Teacher about homework

EAGLE SPORTS
by: EVAN KOPECKY

First off a mid state VB tourney @ Norfolk Catholic. On Thursday there is Midstate volleyball finals @ Norfolk Catholic. Friday we have the 1st round of the football playoffs. good luck and remember to do it the eagle way.

Special Thanks!

Special thanks goes to Elijah and Easton Kopecky, and Andre Mosel for their wonderful drawing skills in the weekly comic. Also thanks to Annie Corkle for contributing the weekly quote, and Peyton Yates for his excellent photography.

Mission Control
by: Peyton Yates and Evan Kopecky

Last week's mission was to take a look in the mirror and say you are going to have a good day. When you go to school you should also say to somebody that they are going to have a good day to.

P} Today in the mirror I said hi peyton have a good day. What did you say Evan.

E} I said nice looking good oh that's not what you were talking about.

P} EVAN you are worth it.

E} You are right I am pretty cool aren't I. I guess you are worth it to Peyton, and you are going to have a good day.

P} Thanks.

